THREE BODIES RECOVERED.

RARITAN BAY DRAGGED FOR VICTIMS OF THE DROWNING ACCIDENT.

TWO OF THE CORPSES THOSE OF MR. FROHWEIN'S

OLDEST AND YOUNGEST DAUGHTERS-THE OTHER THAT OF THE SAILOR

WHO LOST HIS LIFE.

Raritan Bay was dragged all day yesterday whe the tide would permit for the bodies of those who were lost on Thursday from the tender of Jacob pert's yacht the Albatross. The party at work was under the direction of Otto Frehwein, whose three little girls and niece were drowned.

The tide in the bay where the accident occurred very strong, and the work of searching for the podies was carried on with difficulty. At times the waves made the work almost impossible, but the effort was continued, and before night the searchwere rewarded by finding the bodies of three of the unfortunate pleasure-seekers. Early in the day the body of Mr. Frohwein's oldest daughter, Bertle, was found, and later those of the sailor who was drowned and Mr. Frohwein's youngest daughter, Tillie Mrs. Frohwein is at her home, at No. 164 East Ninety-first-st., prostrated with grief, and the happy bome which sne left with her husband and chil-aren for a day's outing on the water Thursday is turned into a house of mourning. Mr. Frohwein is still at Staten Island, where he expects to stay until all the bodies are recovered.

The two bodies of the girls were sent to the morgue in Clifton, where they were embalmed, and were later sent to Mr. Frohwein's home, in Ninety-

Nothing was found of Emma Frohwein's body, and it and that of her cousin are still in the bay. The fishermen say there is little doubt that the lies will be recovered, as the wind and tides are holding right to either drive the bodies ashore or else to keep them about where they went down.

The sailor drowned sacrificed his life, those who saw the affair declare. He was a powerful swimmer. He was thrown into the water with the and came up clear of all of the party. The four girls had been sitting together in the boat, and were in a bunch in the water. The sallor turned were in a bunch in the water. The sallor turned his attention to the girls, who were floundering about in the surf, unable to do anything to aid themselves. His idea appears to have been to get them in a bunch, and then, by supporting one, to keep the others affoat by their holding on to the one he was holding. The girls, however, selzed him as he came to them, and in a moment he was lost, although for a minute or so he struggled to keep himself and the girls above water. The frightgirls, however, were too much for him, must have strangled him and borne him the bottom.

On Thursday morning Mr. Frohwein, with his wife, three daughters, niece and son, went down by train and boat to enjoy the ladies' day festivities at the New-York Fishing Club, off Tottenville, Staten Island. They were to spend the day as guests of Frank Ruppert, a brother of Colonei Jacob Ruppert, ir., the brewer, and return on the yacht Albatross. The water off the clubhouse is too shallow for any except the smallest craft to come up to the landing.

When the party was ready to return to the city it was rowed out to the yacht for the trip back by two saliors from the crew. There were nine persons in the rowboat, and in the rollers midway between the Albatroes and the shore it was overturned. The bay at that point is filled with oyster stakes, and some of the drowning persons clung to them. Mr. Ruppert succeeding in supporting Mrs. Frohwein in the water until he reached the swamped boat. Boats were at once put off from shore to the rescue, and Louis Berg, who was fishing near by hastened to help those struggling in the water. Mrs. Frohwein and young Ruppert were lifted into his boat. The girls sank before help could reach them. All the other members of the party, with the exception of one of the entires were saved. Mr. Frohwein has a drug were saved. Mr. Frohwein has a drug help could reach them. All the other members of the party, with the exception of one of the sailors, were saved. Mr. Frohwein has a drug store at Ninety-third-st, and Third-ave.

ANNUAL PUBLIC SCHOOL REPORT.

NEARLY 470,000 PUPILS INSTRUCTED AT A COST OF ABOUT $10,500,000

William H. Maxwell, superintendent of the public schools of this city, yesterday made public his first annual report on the condition of the schools the entire city. The report is for the school year beginning August 1, 1897, and ending July 31, and is in the form of a single statistical table table is so well arranged that the valuable data that it contains about the progress of the schools can be easily gleaned. No recommendations are made by Dr. M. xwell, nor has he added anything to the yearly report of the school work as presented in the table.

PREPARING FOR A BIG WHEAT CROP.

GRAIN MEN. RAILROADS AND ELEVATORS MAK

ING READY FOR LIVELY BUSINESS. West Superior, Wis., Aug. 5 .- Grain men, raffroads and elevators are all ready for a big rush in the wheat business this fall, and the first of the rush is expected within a couple of weeks. Last year the movement began about September 1, but the railroads are expecting to begin hauling about two weeks earlier this year. Harvesting in the southern districts is well along and the northern farmers are busy getting their crops ready for shipment. The elevators at the head of the lake are empty, as the grain has been going out by boat as fast as it came in over the rails. The middle of August may see the first of the new crop arriving. The grain men already have representatives in the wheat belt and Superior firms anticipate a lively sensor.

YOUNG MAN KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

TELEPHONE WIRE CARRIED THE CURRENT NEAT

Gouverneur, N. Y. Aug. 5 (Special) -This region of haif a dozen occurring in the last week. Much damage is reported. Upon the buildings burned the loss has amounted to $20,000. There was one fatality. William H. Johnson, aged nineteen, was caught out in the rainstorm, and was afterward standing in the doorway of his home when the lightning struck a telephone pole. The current ran along the wire into the house, and his wet clothes were a conductor, and the current jumped three or four feet from the wire and killed him. His mother was standing within three feet of him at the time and was not harmed. Telegraph and telephone lines were considerably damaged by the storm.

GENERAL TILLINGHAST IN THE CITY. Adjutant-General Tillinghast arrived in this city Waldorf-Astoria, but the clerks of the hotel said that he did not register there. Adjutant-General Tillinghast himself explained his presence in New-York by saying that he intended to pay an un-official visit to Camp Black. He left the hotel in the evening. While he was walking in one of the corridors of the Waldorf-Astoria a man who had heard that Lieutenant Hobson was staying at the hotel approached General Tillinghast and saluted him as Hobson. General Tillinghast said that he felt highly complimented by the mistake.

MR. CROKER TO GO TO SARATOGA TO-DAY.

MANY TAMMANY MEN TO JOIN HIM THERE-THE ATTACK ON ME. HILL.

A number of Tammany men went to Saratoga yesterday afternoon, and more will follow to-day. Richard Croker had expected to start for the same place yesterday, but deferred his trip until to-day. The conferences which have been held here and at Long Branch will be continued at Saratoga throughout the month, as Mr. Croker announces his inten-tion of remaining there until about September 1. Mr. Croker was at his office at No. 111 Broadway yesterday, and a number of his friends and political licutenants visited him there. Among those who called upon him was ex-Raliroad Commissioner Beardsley, who is a warm political and personal friend of ex-Senator Hill. His visit caused some Politicians generally commented upon an article published yesterday morning in the paper which is looked upon as being Mr. Crocker's organ, It was directed against ex-Senator Hill and a New-York newspaper that supported Bryan last year. Tammany Hall men who read the attack show their heads and said that it would do Mr. Hi more good than harm, and would certainly aller ate the support of the paper attacked. It als denounced Mr. McLauchlin for standing by M. Hill. The article, in the opinion of politician was inspired by Mr. Croker. The attack on M. McLaughlin, so certain Tammany men said yesteriasy, will embitter the veteran leader of the Brooklyn Democracy even if he ever had any idea of going into the Murphy-Croker combination and will work ill for Tammany. Without Mr. McLaughlin's aid it is doubtful if the Croker-Murphy combination can win. Tammany Hall men who read the attack shook

Mr. Bailey, Democrats who are charitable say, is young yet and may learn as he grows older where of a different sort of leader. For severa months before Congress adjourned it was noticed that one of the most voluble, graceful and sarcastic Democrats in the House had been stlent for a good while. It now seems that Judge De Armond, of Missouri, was all the while in training for the Democratic leadership in the next Congress, and that he deemed it prudent to let the elected leader of the minority in the present Congress make a full exhibit of his mental habits and general qualifications. That the young man from Texas has done so to Judge De Armond's satisfaction is not doubted, With some talent and less skill, with hot zeal and a temper seldom under thorough control. Mr. Balley has tried to play the role of leader. He was usually in the House, as he was in the Texas convention, apt to consider form as being as indispensable as substance, and to fritter away an opportunity to gratify either a whim or personal plque. Once anger Mr. Balley and he loses self-control for the day. And yet he is unquestionably a youth possessing a certain force which, if well directed, would win him some laurels in public life. When he gets past the vealy stage he will probably shed some of the faults that now appear so glaring. months before Congress adjourned it was noticed

Aside from talk about the Governorship, Repub licans all over the State are interested in the political complexion of the Legislature to be elected this fall, as it is to choose a United States Senator to succeed Edward Murphy, jr., of Troy. The Republican organization is confident that it will win in the State this year, and yesterday it will win in the State this year, and yesterday it became known that General Warren B. Hooker, member of Congress from the XXXIVth District, is a serious candidate for Murphy's seat. General Hooker has already been renominated for Congress, and as his district is safely Republican he will probably be elected, but he has announced that if the Republicans control the Legislature he will make a serious struggle to get into the Senate. George W. Ray, member of Congress from the XXVIth District, is also said to be a candidate for the Senate. He is chalrman of the Committee on Invalid Pensions of the House.

Supreme Court Justice Keogh yesterday appointed to her sanity. The men named are Dr. C. F. White Plains, and Eugene D. Travis, a lawyer of Peekskill. Mrs. Wilmerding has been in the Bloomingular Insane Asylum for the last six months. Her friend, Mrs. "Jack" Bloodgood, went to see

Her friend, Mrs. "Jack" Bloodgood, went to see her, and after an interview declared that Mrs. Wilmerding was not crazy. Mrs. Bloodgood retained counsel to secure the release of Mrs. Wilmerding.

The case came up before Justice Keogh in White Plains on Saturday last, and he announced that he would appoint a commission to investigate the mental condition of Mrs. Wilmerding. The commission will examine her and make its report to Justice Keogh, who will then decide as to whether or not Mrs. Wilmerding should be released from Bloomingdale.

President Clinton, L. Rossiter, of the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company, said to a Tribune re porter that the great rush of people to use trolley cars across the Bridge proved the need for more bridges over the East River. The congestion will be temporarily relieved when, about August 23, the Kings County Elevated road begins to run its trains across the Bridge. On last Monday the trolley line carried 85,000 passengers. Mr. Rossiter says the scare about the trolley-cars on Washington Roebling, the Bridge is groundless. the engineer who built the Bridge, told him that if the tracks, roadways and promenade were filled from end to end there would be no danger. EFFORTS TO ENJOIN THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL

FROM CANCELLING AN ENVELOPE CONTRACT.

Washington, Aug 5.—Hearing was begun to-day in the District Supreme Court in the case of the Purcell Envelope Company, of Holyoke, Mass., against the Postmaster-General. The complainants seek to secure an injunction against the Postmaster-General to restrain him from cancelling a contract with them to furnish the Postoffice Department stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers for the term of four years.

A contract was awarded the Purcell Company by Postmaster-General Gary by rotification and official order. Mr. Smith, when he succeeded to the office, refused to sign the centract. The complainants contend that the contract, as awarded, is valid, and the defendant claims that this is a question for the Court to determine. The Postmaster-General's answer to the bill of complaint denies that the contract with the Purcell company was duly executed.

Mr. Fay, for the Purcell company, opened the argument by characterizing the Postmaster-General's procedure as a "high-handed action." He said all the other bidders were members of the Envelope Trust, and it was now proposed to shut out the Purcell company, their only competitor. He said there was no adequate remedy in the Court of Claims.

NO TAX ON REINSURANCE CONTRACTS. Washington, Aug. 5.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has rendered a decision in which he holds that contracts of reinsurance, with certain insurance is understood to be an assumption by one insurance company of some portion of risk which has been taken in full by another company, and a policy duly issued therefor. This is not done by the issuance of another policy, but by an entry made by the insuring company in a register telonging to the reinsuring company. The effect is the same as if each company originally had issued a policy for the portion of the total risks which it respectively assumes, and the total tax paid would be the same as is paid by the one company assuming the entire risk. The exception is that if the risk should become extra hazardous, and the reinsurance obtained only upon the payment of an extra premium, this extra premium is taxable, and the stamp covering it may be affixed to the page in the register opposite the entry.

In the case of receipts for rent, and where there are no other recitals, no stamp is required. But if the receipt contains any phrase or clause that can be construed as a contract for the hire, use or rent, then in such cases the receipt is held to become something more than a bare receipt, and should be stamped according to its tenor or effect. The insertion of the words in a rent receipt "as leased for August, 1898," is held to render it subject to the tax. insurance company of some portion of risk which
